INSTRUCTIONS

Use Form MO-NOL Modification if the corporation reported a net operating loss deduction on Federal Form 1120, Line 29a, Federal Form 1139, or Federal Form 1120X for carryback years. If not, there is no net operating loss modification. If yes, then compute the net operating loss modification. If the NOL deduction is the sum of multiple years, you must complete a Form MO-NOL for each loss year.

1. Enter on Line 1, Columns 1 and 4, the amount of the net operating loss deduction attributable to the loss year from Federal Form 1120, Line 29a of the carryover year or from Federal Form 1139 or Federal Form 1120X for carryback years.
2. Enter on Lines 2a through 2d all required additions from the loss year to federal taxable income, except for the net operating loss modification.
3. Add Lines 2a through 2d and enter the total on Line 3 to compute all required additions from the loss year to federal taxable income.
4. Enter on Lines 4a through 4j all required subtractions from federal taxable income.
5. Add Lines 4a through 4j and enter the total on Line 5 to compute all required subtractions from the loss year from federal taxable income.
6. Subtract Line 5 from Line 3 and enter on Line 6 (but not less than zero). This will give you the net addition modification, as the amount that all required additions exceeds all required subtractions.
7. Enter the amount of the net operating loss from Federal Form 1120, Line 30 of the loss year in Column 3 and enter the tax year of the net operating loss in the blank provided.
8. Enter the amount of net operating loss deduction attributable from Federal Form 1120, Line 29a from all prior carryover years of this loss year or from Federal Form 1139 or Federal Form 1120X from the carryback years.
9. Add Lines 1 and 8 and enter on Line 9.
10. Add Lines 6 and 9 and enter on Line 10.
11. Subtract Line 7 from Line 10 (but not less than zero) and enter on Line 11.
12. Enter the lesser of Line 1 or 11 on Line 12 and also on Form MO-1120, Part 1, Line 4.

Note: You must specifically identify each loss year that is part of the net operating loss deduction and a separate Form MO-NOL must be completed for each loss year.

Note: The above items are each considered to be a positive amount for purposes of this calculation. If the result of combining amounts is negative, use zero.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. If a taxpayer has incurred a net operating loss, when is a net operating loss modification computed?
A net operating loss modification is computed when a net operating loss deduction is claimed. If there was a net operating loss for the tax year 2004 and the taxpayer carried it back two years and claimed a net operating loss deduction on an amended federal return for tax year 2002, then a net operating loss modification would be computed for the 2002 amended Missouri return.
2. Is the Net Operating Loss Modification computed for the year of the loss?
No, it is computed for the year a net operating loss deduction is claimed.
3. If a taxpayer has claimed a net operating loss deduction on its federal return and in the year the initial loss was incurred its Missouri addition modifications are less than its subtraction modifications, does it have to compute a net operating loss modification?
No, there is no net operating loss modification attributable to that net operating loss deduction when in the year of the initial loss was incurred the Missouri addition modifications are less than the Missouri subtraction modifications.
4. If the net operating loss deduction is composed of net operating loss amounts from more than one year, is there more than one net operating loss modification?
Yes, a net operating loss modification must be computed for each net operating loss included in the net operating loss deduction.
5. If more than one net operating loss modification is computed, in what order are the amounts computed?
The net operating loss modifications are computed in the same order as the net operating losses are used as net operating loss deductions for federal income tax purposes.
